PENINSULA SOCIAL MISCELLANY

Short Paragraphs of Personal and Social Events Among Our Neighbors Across the Halifax.

We are glad to report the improvement of Mrs. A. T. Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. Bliss and little son Donald are spending the winter here the guests of Mrs. Hesser in the Bernard cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. French, of Boston are here for their fourth winter. They are guests of the Glenwood. Their many friends are delighted to have them with them again.

L. C. Allen who has been quite low with pneumonia is, we are glad to say, much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Plagg, of Massachusetts, are guests of the Glenwood.

Mrs. Anna Hainey and two daughters, left last week for Tampa, where she will visit her mother for a few weeks.

The reception given Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Templeton last Thursday evening, was quite well attended in spite of the inclement weather. Plenty of good music was furnished also some very interesting recitations. The talk by Rev. Trosel was very much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. L. E. Whitman of Chelsea, Ill., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. S. Harroun, at the Beach Cottage, for the winter.

Mrs. Anna Dovel, and child of Orlando, who have been on a visit to Mrs. Fletcher Wilson, returned to their home last week. They made many friends while here.

Col. E. H. Johnson and friend, Dr. E. Ham, of Gainesville, are guests of Geo. P. Johnson on Seabreeze avenue.

Miss Mary Allen has returned from Georgiana, Fla., where she has been with her grandmother for several months.

W. Powell Hale, the impersonator, entertained a large and interested audience at Wilman's opera house Wednesday evening.

Quite a crowd of our young people took the Uncle Sam for a trip up the Tomoka, Thursday.

Mrs. Anna Simson and daughter Edith, of Illinois, arrived Friday and have rented a cottage on the beach for the season.

The Thursday night dances at the Opera House are being well attended.

The Uncle Sam will carry a party on a moonlight excursion to Ponce Park tonight.

State Items.

Every section of Florida reports a large influx of winter visitors.

The first carload of celery for the season has been shipped from Manatee.

Charles Davies, of Jacksonville, has been appointed assistant passenger agent for Florida of the Mallory Line.

A bank has been organized in Brooksville, the stock being over subscribed by the citizens of that growing town.

Preparations are being made in Orlando for the Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Convention, to be held there Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Early Sunday morning Charlie Lucas was shot and killed by Stella Livingston at the Mascott saloon on Polk street, Tampa. Both parties are negroes.

The Democrats of Marion county do not propose to allow Hon. C. M. Brown to continue as state senator for the Twentieth district, he having removed to Dale county.

A Musical Treat.

The ladies of the Bennett House passed an enjoyable hour on Wednesday afternoon in listening to a delightful paper on the songs and traditions of the American Indians given by Mrs. Jerome Steever, of Chicago, who illustrated her talk with charmingly rendered selections on the piano.

The style of the music was weird and plaintive, strikingly illustrative of the characteristics of the Indian in his sympathy with and nearness to nature.

Mrs. Steever's rare musical ability added greatly to the occasion.

An Old Favorite

LAMENT OF THE IRISH EMIGRANT

By Lady Dufferin

LADY DUFFERIN, poet, who was born in 1807 and died in 1897 was the author of many popular songs and ballads, of which the one given below is the best known. She was the granddaughter of the dramatist and orator, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and mother of the late diplomat, the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava.

I'm sitting on the stile, Mary,
Where we sat side by side,
On a bright May morn' long ago,
When first you were my bride;
The corn was springing fresh and green,
And the lark sang loud and high,
And the red was in your lip, Mary,
And the love-light in your eye.

The place is little changed, Mary:
The day is bright as then,
The lark's loud song is in my ear,
And the corn is green again;
But I miss the soft clasp of your hand,
And your breath, warm on my cheek;
And I still keep list'n' for the words
You nevermore will speak.

'Tis but a step down yonder lane,
And the little church stands near,
The church where we were wed, Mary;
I see the spire from here,
But the graveyards between, Mary,
And my step might break your rest;
For I've laid you, darling, down to sleep,
With your baby on your breast.

I'm very lonely now, Mary,
For the poor make no new friends;
But, O, they love the better still
The few our Father sends;
And you were all I had, Mary,
My blessing and my pride;
There's nothing left to care for now,
Since my poor Mary died.

Yours was the good, brave heart,
Mary,
That still kept hoping on,
When the trust in God had left my soul,
And my arm's young strength was gone;
There was comfort ever on your lip,
And the kind look on your brow,
I bless you, Mary, for that same,
Though you cannot hear me now.

I thank you for the patient smile,
When your heart was fit to break;
When the hunger pain was gnawing there,
And you hid it for my sake;
I bless you for the pleasant word,
When your heart was sad and sore,
O, I'm thankful you are gone, Mary,
Where grief can't reach you more!

I'm bid'n' you a long farewell,
My Mary—kind and true;
But I'll not forget you, darling,
In the land I'm goin' to;
They say there's bread and work for all,
And the sun shines always there;
But I'll not forget old Ireland,
Where it fifty times as fair!

And often in those grand old woods
I'll sit, and shut my eyes,
And my heart will travel back again
To the place where Mary lies;
And I'll think I see the little stile
Where we sat side by side,
And the soft corn and the bright
May morn'.

Easy Language to Learn.

Mr. George Wyndham, M. P., in his Glasgow address as rector of the university alluded to the story that the Scots who founded the kingdom of Padriada killed all the men and women who were Picts and spoke their non-Aryan language. "I know that only five words of the Pictish tongue remain," he said. "In an examination which allowed to candidates a free choice from all languages I should select the Pictish language. It can be mastered in one minute."

A Drawback.

"Every time you speak," said the good fairy, "pearls and diamonds will drop from your lips."
"But," faltered the gentle maid, "don't you think that, under such circumstances, pearls and diamonds may become too dreadfully common?"

Progressive.

A man who had kept a hog in his pen for a year and a half was asked why he didn't kill it and begin to raise another pig, and he replied that he supposed he must keep a hog all the time anyway and he might as well keep that one as any other.

Sure Sign of Old Age.

A man may know that he is approaching old age when he ceases to struggle to be among the first to leave a railroad car when he is in no particular hurry.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Women can always look volumes. Why should they trouble to write them?—Edwin Pugh.

The Wrong One.

Mrs. Cassidy: Yer drunk, ain't ye? Where's yer hat? Cassidy:—Wilm Ol left Casey's Ol seen two hats on the table. Ol picked up wan o' thim an' put it on me head. Faix, Ol nush't 'a' picked up the wan that wasn't there!—Louisville Courier Journal.

A Strenuous Infant.

Jigby—Hello, old man! I hear that new baby up at your house— Popley—You don't say! Great pair of lungs, eh? Jigby—I say I hear that baby of yours— Popley—Yes, yes, and you live two blocks away. Wonderful, wonderful!—Philadelphia Press.

A Costly Comma.

A number of years ago when the United States by its congress was making a tariff bill one of the sections enumerated what articles should be admitted free of duty. Among the many articles specified were "all foreign fruit-plants," etc., meaning plants imported for transplanting, propagation or experiment. The enrolling clerk in copying the bill accidentally changed the hyphen in the compound word "fruit-plants" to a comma, making it read, "all foreign fruits, plants," etc. As a result of this simple mistake for a year, or until congress could remedy the blunder, all the oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other foreign fruits were admitted free of duty. This little mistake, which any one would be liable to make, yet could have avoided by carefulness, cost the government not less than $2,000,000. A pretty costly comma that.

First Book Auction.

Speaking of auctions and auctioneers, a book dealer says: "The first book auction in England of which we have any record is of a date as far back as 1676, when the library of Dr. Seaman was brought to the hammer. Predicated to the catalogue there is an address which thus begins: 'Reader, it hath not been usual here in England to make sale of books by way of auction, or who will give the most for them; but, it having been practiced in other countries to the advantage of both buyers and sellers, it was therefore conceived (for the encouragement of learning) to publish the sale of these books in this manner of way.'"

When London is Silent.

When a very dense fog settled over the Thames valley a few Sundays ago and most densely over London it imposed a complete silence on animal life. London was itself as silent as the grave, for all traffic was stopped, and, as on Sunday traffic of any kind is reduced to a minimum, the great city was almost as still as a country village at midnight. The streets and even the river were almost without a sound, for not a single tug was moving on the Thames. In the country no bird uttered a sound. They all sat still, silent and moping.

If you are not afraid to bluff it, postpone trouble till tomorrow, and it will often leave and never come back.—Atchison Globe.

TRUCKERS, ORANGE GROWERS

May Not Find Their Losses so Heavy as Anticipated Great Amount of Energy Displayed.

The recent cold wave succeeded in ruining all of the oranges in this section except those raised by growers energetic enough to gather and house the fruit before it was injured. Lettuce, which is grown in great quantities here, was practically all killed, but the spirit of enterprise which has made Florida what it is today was never more fully displayed than in the manner in which our truckers have gone to work to repair the ravages of Jack Frost.

As stated in a recent issue of the DAILY NEWS orange trees further south were injured seriously by the cold wave on account of the sap which had risen in the trees. Here the trees were dormant and the growers lost the fruit alone the trees not being in the least injured. The truck farmers, however, lost their entire crop which had not yet been marketed, but they succeeded in saving a portion of the seed beds and have already set about planting another spring crop for the early spring market.

What is true of this section is doubtless true of many other sections of Florida, and the same undaunted spirit of perseverance no doubt animates the fruit and truck farmers wherever the cold wave has done damage.

It is probable that the new crop that our truckers are now putting in will be somewhat smaller than that which was lost; but, if this be the case, the diminished supply will, at all events, tend to increase the demand and advance prices in the great markets of the North, next spring.

But, be that as it may, the spirit in which these indomitable tillers of the soil have met disaster is none the less admirable, and none the less worthy of emulation by all who look to Mother Earth for their support, and whose success is, therefore, more or less dependent upon natural causes which can neither be controlled nor set aside.

THE FLORIDA GAME LAWS.

Protect Many of The Birds Not Generally Known as Game Birds.

The Law Quoted in Full.

No person shall, within the State of Florida, kill, or catch, or have in his or her possession, living or dead, any wild bird other than a game bird, nor shall purchase, offer or expose for sale any such wild bird after they have been killed or caught. No part of the plumage, skin or body of any bird protected by this section shall be sold or had in possession for sale. The following are considered as game birds: swan, geese, brant, sea ducks, rails, coots, mud hens, plovers, surf birds, snipe, woodcock, sand piper, tattlers, curlews, wild turkeys, grouse, prairie chicken, pheasants, partridges and quail, turtle doves, wild pigeons and robins.

The law provides a fine $5 for each and every breach of the law and a further fine of $5 for each and every part of a bird found in the possession of any person.

Many of the birds enumerated above are allowed to be killed at certain seasons, but the robin is protected at all times. Lately the robins appeared here in great numbers and the hunters succeeded in killing a great number of them, many being shot within the city limits, for which there is a fine of $5. The marshal was out this morning looking for the various offenders and will probably make several arrests.

Valuable Lands Sold.

The sheriff sale of the Ropes lands before the court house door recently to satisfy the Stewart judgment in the sum of $8,000, attracted a number of bidders and a crowd of spectators from different parts of the county. The judgment was satisfied before all the property was sold.
The home property on Lake George was knocked down to a Jacksonville fisherman for $1,300. Most of the pine lands in the Eldridge section were bid in by Messrs. Bishop, Conrad and Minshew.

The grant of land near DeLeon Springs, containing large quantities of fine cypress timber, was started by Mr. Wilson for the Wilson Cypress Company, of Palatka, at $2,500. Several began bidding for this tract, and the bids kept going up until $6,075 was reached, and at that price it was knocked off to the Wilson Cypress Company.

Sheriff Turner then announced that the execution had been satisfied, leaving lots of land unsold. The sheriff asked Ropes if he wanted the other lands sold and was told no, and this closed the sale. Mr. Ropes has some fine bodies of land left yet, and, it is said, a good bank account besides. This ends the case of Judge Stewart suing Ropes and obtaining a verdict of false arrest by Ropes in connection with a case in which Ropes was one of the litigants. The $8,000 was paid over to Judge Stewart Monday afternoon by the parties bidding in the property.

DEATH MASK STAMPS.

The Serbian Issue Which Is to Demand Among Collectors.

According to a Belgrade correspondent, the publication of the story of Queen Natalie's intrigue to revenge herself on Serbia, followed by the sudden withdrawal by the postal authorities of all the new coronation stamps, is the sole topic of conversation
throughout the Balkan states.

In order to celebrate King Peter's coronation the Serbian government decided to issue a series of large postal labels bearing the new monarch's portrait beside that of his ancestor Karageorge.

The engraving was unfortunately intrusted to a Frenchman named Mon-chon, a person, it is alleged, very friendly toward queen Natalie, and he very skillfully introduced into the design for the new postage stamps the ghastly features of the queen's murdered son, King Alexander.

A vast number of the coronation stamps were issued to the public before it became known to the authorities that the new issue was regarded by many of King Peter's superstitious subjects as a "heavenly sign" that the new monarch's reign was to be "brief and bloody."

If one of the new stamps be held upside down the unmistakable death mask of King Alexander may be seen, formed by a portion of King Peter's head with that of his ancestor, Karageorge. The nostrils of the two heads together form the eyes of the murdered monarch, the mustaches make the eyebrows, and the eyebrow and eye of Karaageorge form King Alexander's nose and mouth.

The "death mask stamps," as the new issue has become known, have undoubtedly made a great impression in the army and among the uneducated classes.

"I learn on the best authority," concludes the correspondent, "that the government is making desperate efforts to buy up as many of the dangerous labels as possible and is even sending agents abroad to France, Germany and England to secure them at any cost from speculators and foreign stamp dealers."—London News.

The Earth's Internal Heat.

Whether the internal heat of the earth was in the first place due to the presence of radio active matter or to other causes is a very debatable question, for the answer involves considerations of the origin of the earth as a member of the solar system. Whatever view may be taken of this problem, there can be no doubt that the discovery of the distribution of radio active matter in the earth throws grave doubt on the validity of those calculations of the age of the earth which are based on the assumption that it is a simple cooling body and tends to show that the present internal heat will be maintained for a much longer interval than was at first supposed.

On this theory of the maintenance of the internal heat no definite limit can be set for the age of the earth, but some deductions can be made of the probable variation of the internal heat within time. Professor Ernest Rutherford in Harper's Magazine.

A Story of Tom Watson.

Before Thomas E. Watson attained to his present confidence while addressing audiences he had several misadventures on the platform. On one occasion he was speaking to a mixed crowd not far from his home and was blazing away in good style when a singularly beautiful young woman entered the hall. The orator, impressed with the girl's loveliness, lost the thread of his discourse, hesitated and finally stopped. The audience, not understanding his embarrassment, encouraged him with cries of "Go on,"
but Watson knew he could not respond with good effect. His quick wit came to his rescue, however. Stepping to the front of the platform, he said in a low voice, "Ladies and gentlemen, I should be glad to continue, but the lady who has just come in fairly took my breath away." Then he sat down amid a hearty round of applause.

A collection of water colors, among them several originals of New England scenery, by Mrs. Albert G. Harding, of Haverhill, Mass., are on exhibition at the Curio at The Ormond, where they are greatly admired. Mrs. Harding in them verifies her reputation for having a thorough mastery over color.

Don't fail to hear W. Powell Hale, Impersonator, at the Baptist church, tomorrow, Friday evening. The Memphis Scimitar says of his entertainment, he takes his audience with him at his pleasure, and leaves them delighted with his work. His impersonations are perfect.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Goodwin, of Newcastle, Ind., have registered at the Grand Atlantic. They are on their wedding trip and have spent several weeks at Palm Beach, Miami and Havana. It will be remembered that Mr. Goodwin made something of a reputation as a navigator on the Halifax river last winter. Accompanying them are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jennings, also of Newcastle. This is their first trip to Florida and they are delighted with the trip.

W. Powell Hale, Impersonator, will appear at the Baptist church, on Palmetto avenue, Friday night, February 17. The entertainment is said to be one of the best. The Knoxville (Tenn.) Tribune, in speaking of Mr. Hale says: Last night at Staub's Theater W. P. Hale scored another hit. He was inimitable, and his selections brought down the house from the beginning, the audience being kept in a constant roar of laughter. His appearance was a decided success.

TELLS COLOR BY TOUCH.

The Remarkable Gift Possessed by a Young Frenchwoman.

At a recent meeting of the Biological society in Paris a woman of twenty-two years demonstrated to the scientists present that she was possessed of a remarkably developed sense of touch by means of which she could tell different colors blindfolded. The subject of the experiments was a healthy individual, without any of the nervous symptoms that so often go with remarkable gifts of this character. During the experiments her eyes were closed by a black cloth, and a physician kept his finger on her pulse to detect if there were any variations from the normal.

The first tests were made with papers on which different colors had been painted. Red, blue and yellow were easily recognized. Green was described as like and orange as red. White spaces on the paper were easily recognized. Red, blue and yellow were also recognized when painted pieces of paper were enclosed in glass tubes, so that the fingers did not come into immediate contact with them. As a final test the subject read words painted on paper in colors, tracing the outlines of the letters with her fingers.

The young woman does not begin the experiment directly she is blindfolded. She waits a few minutes until a gascon film forms before her eyes, as she expresses it. Then she knows she can feel the colors. Then as she rubs the ends of her fingers lightly over the object the color passes before her eyes and stays there as long as she maintains contact. During the experiments the breathing and the circulation of the young woman remained perfectly normal. The only changes noticed were slight muscular contractions in the forearm and, at the end of the seance, heat and moisture in the hands.—New York Times.

Open Car Ethel.

It has been decided that the "end seat" man who does not move along when a new passenger boards the car is a "hog." Another point remains to be determined. In rainy weather each seat of the open car has one dry sitting—in the middle. Should the passenger who arrives first and pre-empted that dry sitting move along into the wet when the seat fills? Is the first arrival who refuses to move along a "middle seat hog" or is he exercising an ethical right to sit in a dry spot—a right founded upon priority and defensible under the rules of reason and equity?

Having pre-empted the dry seat, or having dried and warmed a seat, should the passenger slide into the damp when new passengers push in? The question is a fine subject for debate. Its importance is not slight. Soon or late the emergency confronts everybody, and a rule of conduct in such case should be established.—Elmira Gazette.

A THRIFTY TENOR.

Tamagno Walked, but His Carriage Will Not be Paid.

Several years ago a tenor named Tamagno was engaged to come to America and sing at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. He was paid $1,000 a night. This is a sum which would make many people willing to put up with small extra expenses. But not so Tamagno. Before leaving Europe he made a stipulation that he be furnished with a carriage to and from the opera house every night. This was inserted in the contract. When he arrived he found a carriage waiting at the pier. He rode uptown—always at the expense of the opera company—and took a look around. Then he decided to put up at the Marlborough hotel, which happens to be only three short blocks from the Metropolitan Opera House. Every time he sang he walked up to the opera house, refusing to take a carriage. He said he had just as soon walk. When it came time for him to return to Europe he presented a bill for over $200 "for carriages to and from the opera."

"But you didn't take a carriage," said the manager of the opera company. Tamagno bowed low and invited the manager to look at the contract. He repeated the same suggestion whenever anything was said about it. The result, of course, was that the $200 had to be paid. He stood out for it with as much insistence as if he hadn't seen a dollar for a month, and all the time he was getting $1,000 a night.

THE STARFISH.

This Peculiar Creature Can Neither See, Hear Nor Smell.

Unlike man, the starfish loses one of its "arms," or properly its rays, grows a new one to take its place. Under certain conditions it grows two to take the place of one. A starfish may lose all its rays without losing its life, and very often a cripple with but a single ray left is found by fishermen and collectors. When completely broken in two the starfish becomes two distinct fish, and the growing process continues. The brittle starfish, it is believed, in many instances breaks off its own rays at the approach of danger. For this reason it is difficult to obtain a perfect specimen.

A starfish can neither see nor hear. Neither has it the sense of smell. In spite of these seeming impediments, nevertheless, it seeks and devours its prey as neatly as an ordinary fish. The starfish lies upon its prey and folds its "arms," or rays, completely about it. Then it pushes its stomach out through its mouth and will wrap even a large oyster and shell within the folds of the stomach. The mouth of the starfish is in the center of its rays. Some great ships are today employed almost wholly in seeking for starfish specimens in deep seas, and there are hundreds of men who spend a portion of their time in collecting starfish in the interests of science. Many of the specimens collected by ships are taken from depths of one and even two miles.

The consequence was that after telephoning the various asylums for the insane and not hearing of any escapes the inspector concluded the suspicious person to be a confidence man and sent a policeman to shadow him. The policeman who went on this duty, after DAYTONA is situated upon the west bank of the Halifax River at its widest expanse and midway between its source at Bulow Bay and its outlet at Mosquito Inlet. It is in latitude 29, seventy four miles from St. Augustine and one mile from the Atlantic Ocean, and is acknowledged to be without a rival for beauty among the villages of the South. Its site is upon what is known as high hammock land that was crowned by nature with a most royal growth of majestic forest trees, and among these trees in the town of today, with its beautiful cottages and well-graded walks and streets, the result of that all along the wide avenues that intersect the town are lovely live and water oaks and hickories, many of them draped with graceful festoons of the gray Spanish moss, that overarch the street and walks, and among these are interspersed tall tropical palmettos, glossy-leaved magnolias, fragrant bays and coral-berried holly, and many other varieties, while in many places the wild grape, the trumpet vine and the amplexous clematis and clinging among the branches forming shady bowers, and adding grace and beauty.

The town lies parallel with the Halifax River, and extends for nearly two miles along the shore. This river is the delight of the angler and the yachtsman and forms one of the town's greatest attractions.

The main avenues that run parallel with or intersect the river are all 100 feet wide, except Beach street, which is about sixty-five feet, but has a half-mile of open, beautiful water abutting upon its eastern side, where the salt waves ebb and flow and along and across which comes the cooling, invigorating and health-giving breezes from off the wide Atlantic, which temper and render the Halifax climate one of the most perfect in the world. Daytona has many miles of well-graded, macled and shelled roads and streets, rendering it the

and added to these, but a mile away, are thirty miles of smooth, hard beach, that affords an unrivalled course for long distance cycling and driving or automobile racing. No town of equal size, North or South, numbers so many wheelmen, and cycling is a favorite pastime with the tourists summer and winter.

The Beautiful Cottages
that have been erected during the past years and are being built are rendering Daytona as famous for its fine homes as for its beautiful river, trees and avenues, and they are adding yearly to its attractions.

Not the least of these attractions to those securing homes in the South, and ranking second only to healthfulness and perfection of climate, is the fact that its population is chiefly composed of cultivated and intelligent people, accustomed to the refinements of home and social life. Added to these features are good churches, good public and private schools, stores, hotels, laundry, meat markets, novelty works, an opera house, electric lights for street and house illumination, a good telephone system, ice factory, Lily Water Works, and hot and cold baths, etc., and everything else can be procured that is necessary to make life comfortable. An important feature in the healthfulness of this town is the

Water Supply
which is derived from numerous flowing wells, of which there are probably 300 in the corporate limits. This flow is secured by boring wells to the depth of from 80 to 120 feet, passing through several strata of rock, and this depth assures purity from all surface contamination. The water is slightly impregnated with magnesia and iron, and holds sulphur in the shape of gas, which soon passes away.

The Population of Daytona proper is about 1,800. Added to this is a suburban population on main shore and peninsula of about 1,000 at Kingston, Blake, Old Seabreeze or Goodall, Seabreeze and Silver Beach, which are properly a part of the town and population.

Daytona Beach

lies one mile east of the town. It is approached by three good bridges over the river and well-graded avenues, and is the principal summer resort south of St. Augustine. It has more tourists during the summer than all other places south of that city combined, and is also becoming a favorite winter resort. The beach is wide, firm and smooth, by many considered the finest in the world, and the surf bathing is safe and excellent summer and winter. People who have tried Northern and Western summer resorts declare that there are none so perfect in comfort as Daytona Beach.

Automobile Race Meet.

The Florida East Coast Automobile Association conducts an annual race meet on the beach, which has now a universal reputation as the greatest automobile race course in the world. The Daytona-Ormond Beach is hard as macadam, and an ideal stretch of thirty or more miles without a break makes it the natural racing ground for America.

At low tide the beach is bared for 300 feet and neither carriage wheel, bicycle or pedestrian can make a hardly visible imprint on the smooth and well-packed sand. It is no uncommon sight to see sail-rigged bicycles speeding with the velocity of the wind before a stiff breeze along the smooth beach, thus affording the most exhilarating sport known to man. Besides these, miles of hard-shelled, palm-fringed boulevards bring the lovers of the wheel and vehicles into direct touch with the mainland over the broad bridges which span the splendid Halifax River.

The beach from the sandy bluffs to the lowest point at oblique, measures about 500 feet, and the average depth of the surf measures about two feet. A continuous gentle swell rolls in from the ocean from one to two feet in depth under normal conditions, making the beach an attractive and absolutely safe place for surf-bathing. Here the infant as well as the grey-haired veteran of many summers, can safely enjoy the luxury of a sea bath throughout the larger part of the year, while the strong and expert swimmer, can venture out further to test his strength and skill in battling with the inexhaustible powers of the mighty ocean.

The Peninsula

lying between river and ocean is one-half mile wide, and is being rapidly improved, and there are many fine cottages and several good hotels, an opera house, two ocean piers, beach pavilion and a large casino.

A Remarkable Feature

at Daytona has been the yearly improvement in the style and value of the buildings that are being erected for homes. Men of capital of the North and West have become awakened to its advantages for winter residences, and valuable lots are being purchased and costly houses, beautiful in design and finish, are being erected, and beautiful homes, the abodes of wealth and culture are multiplying.

Seabreeze (City Beautiful) and Goodall are settlements on the Ocean side of the peninsula across the Halifax River from Daytona.

At the foot of Ocean Boulevard, Seabreeze, a pier reaches 600 feet across the beach into the swelling surf of the ocean. This pier is a favorite resort of those who delight in the sport of fishing. The surf here abounds in trout, pompano, yellowtail, cavalle, whiting, drum, sheepshead and many other varieties of edible fish. During the fall season the famous sea bass affords royal sport, and it has been no uncommon occurrence to land a thousand pounds of this gamey fish in an afternoon. Individuals of them ranging from fifteen to thirty-five pounds in weight. Not only does the ocean offer this splendid sport but the Halifax River, only half a mile back of the ocean, is equally famous for its fine fishing, and the varieties that abound in the ocean are present in the river.
